
Thomas Kinkadee Announces Plans for the Thomas Kinkadee Network

MORGAN HILL, CA: (May 22, 2007) - Thomas Kinkadee, the world renowned "Painter of Light™" announced today plans for launching the "Thomas Kinkadee Network", a web broadcasting solution that enables clients, partners and affiliates to launch internet-based broadcast web-channels containing quality programming and content. The Thomas Kinkadee Network is the only branded online network to present subscribers with a complement of channels carefully selected for their commitment to the same values so highly-prized by the Thomas Kinkadee brand.

"We are very excited to launch this new form of broadcast media. Working with our affiliates, licensees and other partners, we are actively signing channel partners to provide a wide range of content for our viewers. The response has been overwhelming from companies who share a commitment to the same branded values who are looking to launch their channels on the Thomas Kinkadee Network. We envision the Thomas Kinkadee Network to be among the leading and largest online content providers," said Todd Stewardson, Vice President Sales, The Thomas Kinkadee Company.

The Thomas Kinkadee Network will be powered with technology and solutions from OpenChannel Network, a leading developer of online channel broadcasting solutions. For a preview of the Thomas Kinkadee Network go to <http://www.thomaskinkadenetwork.com/> or call for additional information.

About The Thomas Kinkadee Company:

The Thomas Kinkadee Company publishes the work of Thomas Kinkadee and distributes his art and related collectibles through independently owned galleries worldwide, an extensive network of branded and licensed dealers, and strategic marketing relationships with more than 70 licensees. The company's primary products are canvas and paper reproductions that feature Mr. Kinkadee's artistic unique use of light and his peaceful and inspiring themes. Mr. Kinkadee, known as the "Painter of Light(TM)," is the most successful and most collected living artist in U.S. history. For more information, please visit the Company's web site at www.thomaskinkadee.com.

About OpenChannel Network:

OCN ignites the web based media revolution by providing companies turnkey solutions for creating, launching and maintaining their online web channel presence. It is our vision to create useful online content channels for the masses; much like satellite television redefined its broadcast market. OpenChannel offers solutions ranging from channel creation and marketing to full content design solutions. Our customers range from small entities, seeking to explore the benefits of online broadcast presence, to Fortune 500 companies seeking to create a dominant multi-channel network. www.openchannel.com